

Welcome

On behalf of the faculty, staff and students of Southern Illinois University Edwardsville, I take great pleasure in welcoming you to the 115th Commencement. Today, we are celebrating a milestone in the lives of our graduates and their families. The achievements of this class are notable. Our students excel in their various pursuits and, as such, bring significant credibility to the University's vision of empowering individuals to reach their full potential.

SIUE is a place where dreams are born and realized, a place that changes lives. The University community is proud to have been a part of each of our graduates' academic journeys. We are prepared to continue to offer support during their transition to alumni status, as it leads to entrance to the professional realm or to the pursuit of an advanced degree. Graduates, congratulations on this special day, both to you and to those who have supported you throughout your studies. We're glad you chose the "e" and look forward to learning of your accomplishments going forward.

All the best!

In the foreground, there is a large, calm body of water that reflects the building and the sky. The overall tone is light and serene.

Southern Illinois University

Southern Illinois University (SIU) is comprised of two sister institutions: SIU Carbondale, with a School of Medicine in Springfield, and SIU Edwardsville, with a School of Dental Medicine in Alton and the SIUE East St. Louis Higher Education campus in East St. Louis. The University System, with an annual operating budget of almost $850 million, enrolls nearly 32,000 students in programs from two-year technical curricula to doctoral programs in a variety of fields. SIUE offers degrees in law and medicine, as well as first professional degrees in dental medicine and pharmacy.

SIU was chartered in 1869 as Southern Illinois Normal University, a teachers' college. In 1947, the name was changed to SIU, reflecting the institution's academic expansion. The University also expanded geographically. As early as 1949, SIU began offering courses in the metropolitan East St. Louis area, which led to the development of SIUE.

A modern and comprehensive post-secondary educational system, SIU offers a broad range of academic programs leading to associate, baccalaureate, masters, specialists, doctoral and professional degrees.

The instructional, scholarship and service missions of the two constituent institutions reflect the needs of the geographic areas in which they are located. The University also is committed to serving state-wide, national and international needs. This commitment is reflected in educational activities located off the main campuses in communities throughout the state. It is also realized through research and training exchanges, and world-wide student exchange programs.

The Board of Trustees governs SIU and sets policy that enables the University to carry out its established missions and goals. The President of the System is its Chief Executive Officer and reports to the Board of Trustees. The University Chancellors report directly to the President and are responsible for the internal operations of SIUE and SIUC, respectively.

Southern Illinois University Edwardsville

Southern Illinois University Edwardsville (SIUE) traces its origin to a recommendation made in 1956 by the Southwest Illinois Council for Higher Education. The Council was convinced that higher education facilities were needed in the Metro East. They hired consultants whose reports documented that need, and they appealed to Southern Illinois University, 100 miles south, to establish satellite campuses.

In 1957, SIU opened two “residence centers” in Alton and East St. Louis. The University expected to enroll 800 students, but actual enrollment reached 1,776. By 1959, the number of students had more than doubled to 3,800, greatly exceeding the capabilities of the physical facilities. This burgeoning population demanded services faster than the University could develop and supply them.

A planning team investigated sites in the Metro East counties and selected one just south of Edwardsville. In 1960, the Illinois legislature authorized a bond issue for construction of a new state university campus. Voter approval came in November 1960. After nearly three years of planning, University officials and area residents attended ground-breaking ceremonies for the first permanent buildings.

In the fall of 1965, SIUE moved onto its new campus just 25 miles from St. Louis—2,660 acres of rolling land and woods dotted with lakes along bluffs flanking the Mississippi River. Much of the land still retains its natural shape. The core campus was designed by the internationally known architectural firm of Hellmuth, Obata and Kassabaum of St. Louis. The brick, slate and granite of the modern buildings complement the terrain and are softened by a carefully designed garden landscape that attracts visitors by its physical beauty. The campus has received several awards in recognition of the successful blend of the aesthetic and functional in a setting that enhances growth and development and is now featured among the top 150 Illinois Great Places by the American Institute of Architects Illinois Council.

Emphasizing teaching, research and public service programs, SIUE is a fully accredited, comprehensive university with nearly 14,000 students enrolled. U.S. News & World Report Best Colleges of 2015 lists SIUE among the top 15 public universities in the best Regional Universities Midwest (master’s granting) category for the 11th consecutive year. The overall scores are based on the academic preparedness of students, graduation rates, faculty characteristics and the reputation of SIUE in higher education. SIUE is ranked among the nation’s Top 40 master’s granting colleges by Washington Monthly for contributions to the public good. More than half of SIUE’s 95,000 graduates live and work in the St. Louis region. SIUE makes nearly a $500 million economic impact on the region every year.

The University offers 226 undergraduate and graduate areas of study encompassing the arts and sciences, nursing, education, business and engineering. The Schools of Dental Medicine and Pharmacy award doctor’s “first professional” degrees in dental medicine (DMD) and in pharmacy (PharmD). The Schools of Nursing and Education, Health and Human Behavior award doctoral degrees in nursing practice (DNP) and educational leadership (EdD). The main campus also includes University Park, a research park established for economic development. The Edwardsville campus is supplemented by campuses in East St. Louis and Alton.

At SIUE, students find comprehensive educational opportunities and a community in which individuals support each other in their search for knowledge and individual development.

Academics at Southern Illinois University Edwardsville

College of Arts and Sciences

Aldemaro Romero, Dean

From the study of the atom and the simplest forms of life to the most complex issues affecting our society, the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS) offers 85 areas of study in the natural sciences, humanities, arts, social sciences and communications. CAS is the largest academic unit at SIUE and home to the general education curriculum. CAS touches the lives of all students through its dedication to liberal arts and sciences and by helping students gain knowledge and skills applicable across all disciplines. CAS is committed to ensuring that its graduates acquire the skills and knowledge necessary to function as educated individuals, life-long learners and responsible citizens.

School of Business

John Navin, Interim Dean

The School of Business is among an elite 10 percent of business schools worldwide that have earned the prestigious seal of approval from the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB) International. The accounting program holds specialized accreditation by the AACSB. Less than one-third of AACSB-accredited business schools also hold the accounting accreditation. SIUE's proximity to St. Louis, a major metropolitan business center, allows students to participate in professional organizations and seek practical work experience with local firms and government agencies. Each year, SIUE business students find internships, cooperative education opportunities and employment with major corporations like The Boeing Company, Peabody Coal, Nestlé Purina, Edward Jones, Emerson, Enterprise Rent-a-Car and Monsanto and scores of small- and medium-sized businesses. Graduates are well prepared to begin productive careers in the fields of international business, management, economics, marketing, human resource management, finance, accounting and computer management and information systems.

School of Education, Health and Human Behavior

Curt Lox, Interim Dean

School of Education, Health and Human Behavior graduates can choose from a variety of career paths in education and the human sciences: PreK-12 teachers and administrators; fitness and rehabilitation specialists; community and public health specialists; clinical, industrial/organizational or school psychologists; professionals in speech-language pathology and audiology; and instructional technology experts. Through partnerships with public school districts and local organizations, SIUE students have opportunities to intern in a variety of diverse rural, urban and metropolitan settings. The School's educator preparation programs address the new national standards set by the National Council of the Accreditation of Teacher Education and state standards set by the Illinois State Board of Education.

School of Engineering

Hasan Sevim, Dean

The School of Engineering offers eight undergraduate and five graduate programs, as well as a collaborative Ph.D. program with SIUC, making it one of the most comprehensive engineering schools in the region. The School prepares students to meet the growing needs in our region and nation for more engineers, computer scientists and construction managers. Fueling the prosperity of our region, the School has graduated approximately 6,900 engineering professionals. The engineering, information technology and construction companies in the Metropolitan St. Louis area provide exciting, challenging and well-paid jobs, internships and cooperative opportunities to our students. More than 60 percent of our graduates have taken positions in the St. Louis Metro area. SIUE students are not only educated in the classroom and laboratory, but also through regional opportunities, undergraduate research projects and student chapters that participate in collegiate contests such as the formula race car, solar car, mini Baja, robotics, steel bridge, concrete canoe and many more.

School of Nursing

Laura Bernaix, Interim Dean

The School of Nursing offers an excellent learning environment, which prepares students for a career as a professional nurse. The School's undergraduate and graduate programs are fully accredited by the Commission on Collegiate

Academics at Southern Illinois University Edwardsville

Nursing Education (CCNE), which means that SIUE nursing students can be assured of receiving the highest quality education. The School partners with hundreds of health care agencies in Central and Southern Illinois and the St. Louis region. Performing procedures on electronic simulated patient mannequins, SIUE nursing students can practice required nursing skills in an environment that promotes critical thinking and safe care before actually encountering patients in clinical settings. The undergraduate program is offered at both the Edwardsville and Carbondale campuses. RN to BSN programming is offered online. Graduate programs include nurse educator, nurse administration, family nurse practitioner and certified nurse anesthesia. The doctor of nursing practice, an online program, is also offered.

School of Pharmacy

Gireesh Gupchup, Dean

The School of Pharmacy, the only pharmacy program in Southern Illinois, offers a professional program leading to the Doctor of Pharmacy (PharmD) degree. Established in 2005, the School graduated its first class in May 2009 and received full accreditation in June 2009. Our graduates benefit from an unprecedented demand for pharmacists in a wide variety of professional settings such as community pharmacies, hospitals, the pharmaceutical industry and academia. SIUE pharmacy students work alongside other health professionals. This team approach allows health care professionals to optimize drug therapy and offer the highest quality of patient care. The Express Scripts Drug Information and Wellness Center — the only one in Illinois outside of Chicago — is designed to be a resource for health care professionals and offers wellness initiatives for the community.

School of Dental Medicine

Bruce Rotter, Dean

The Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine (SDM) is proud of its established tradition of graduating well-prepared general practitioners of dental medicine. Since 1972, the SDM has continued to carry out its mission — to improve the oral health of southern Illinois and the region through education, patient care, scholarship and service. Through the care provided at the University's main clinic in Alton and the community clinic in East St. Louis, as well as through our community outreach programs, the School of Dental Medicine serves as a vital oral health care provider for residents of southern and central Illinois, and the St. Louis metropolitan region. In 2015, the SIU School of Dental Medicine will celebrate our 40th Anniversary—40 years of graduating outstanding dentists. SDM students participate in a separate Commencement ceremony.

Graduate School

Jerry Weinberg, Dean

The National Science Foundation lists SIUE among the top 20 master's granting institutions in the U.S. in terms of research and development expenditures. The SIUE Graduate School offers 83 areas of study with master's, post-baccalaureate certificates and doctoral degrees in 40 different disciplines. Students prepare for the challenges of their profession in a rich, intellectual learning environment emphasizing research and practice.

Lovejoy Library and Information Services

Regina McBride, Dean

Library and Information Services (LIS) provides information resources and technology for teaching, learning, and scholarship. Information resources are available in all formats with a strong preference given to electronic items. Digital collections particularly receive heavy usage. LIS is a member of CARLI (Consortium of Academic and Research Libraries in Illinois), composed of 145 university libraries. CARLI provides SIUE users full access to the holdings of the 86 CARLI libraries that share a catalog of 38 million item records. Access to OCLC's WorldCat, with more than two billion items held by participating libraries, opens the world to SIUE users. Library resources are available through social media such as Facebook and Twitter, its mobile website—SIUE Libraries Mobile, and traditional methods. One of the more recent services is 3D scanning and printing. As in all successful 21st century academic libraries, Library faculty are subject specialists who provide information literacy and technology instruction and direct other faculty in identifying and selecting open access materials, in publishing research locally and curating collections in the institutional repository.

Commencement Address

Kelly Gable

The Teaching Excellence Award is one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon an SIUE faculty member. The recipient is selected by a committee of faculty and students for demonstrated excellence as a teacher. This year's Teaching Excellence Award recipient is Dr. Kelly Gable, associate professor of pharmacy practice in the School of Pharmacy. Prior to becoming a faculty member at SIUE, Gable received her bachelor's and doctoral degrees from the University of Mississippi School of Pharmacy in 2002 and 2004 respectively.

As a psychiatric pharmacist, Gable currently practices at Places for People in St. Louis. This site is a nonprofit community mental health center with core values that include providing mental health care to the underserved in the greater St. Louis region. The client population includes the chronically homeless, those with severe and persistent mental illness (e.g. schizophrenia, bipolar disorder), substance abusers, refugees, survivors of torture, and individuals with mental illness and co-occurring HIV. The majority of her clinical time is spent with SIUE pharmacy students during their clinical rotations, providing medication management and disease-state education to clients in the community, on the streets of St. Louis and at their places of residence. Gable is currently the only pharmacist in Missouri authorized to function as a psychiatric prescriber on community mental health teams. Chair of the Teaching Excellence Awards committee McKenzie Ferguson, PharmD, an assistant professor of pharmacy practice, cited Gable as an extraordinary educator. The committee noted Gable's empathy and competence as a specialized healthcare provider who consistently encourages students to be self-reflective. She was recognized for being a strong role model for pharmacy students, nursing students, medical students and residents. Gable had previously been honored as the School of Pharmacy's Preceptor of the Year and received the SIUE Department of Social Work Humanitarian Award.

E. Duff Wrobbel

In 1970, the SIUE Alumni Association established the Great Teacher Award to recognize excellence in instruction and student interaction. SIUE faculty members are nominated by alumni, colleagues or current students. Those nominated have had a tremendous impact on the lives of their students, which carries on long past graduation. The SIUE Alumni Association is proud to present the 2014 award to Dr. Eric "Duff" Wrobbel, associate professor, Department of Applied Communication Studies. Wrobbel joined the SIUE faculty in 1993 and teaches across most of the applied communication studies curriculum. He earned a bachelor's in communication and theater from Miami University Ohio, a master's from San Diego State University and a PhD from the University of Texas-Austin. In 2000, Wrobbel received the SIUE Teaching Recognition Award and continues to have a tremendous impact on the lives of current and former students. One of his nominators wrote of Wrobbel: "When an alumna looks back on her college experience, there are always a few professors who stand out in her memory. Dr. Wrobbel would be one of those professors." Another wrote: "Duff was straightforward, honest and eager to go above and beyond to be helpful." When Wrobbel is not leading students, he serves as a local advocate in the Down syndrome community.

History of Academic Regalia

The pageantry of the academic procession is used for many of the formal and significant events at SIUE.

Inherited from the medieval universities of the 11th and 12th centuries when woolen gowns and hoods were worn by scholars for warmth in unheated quarters, the wearing of academic vestments and the procession were not adopted throughout the United States until the late 19th century.

Academic life in the Middle Ages began first in the church, then in the guilds. The teaching guild was the guild of the master of arts, where the bachelor was the apprentice of the master and the dress was the outward sign of privilege and responsibility, designed to distinguish the wearer from the merchants and other townsmen.

Principal features of academic dress are the gown, cap and hood. Both Cambridge and Oxford Universities, since the 15th century, have made academic dress a matter of university control, even to its minor details, and have repeatedly published revised regulations. American universities agreed on a definite system in 1894. In 1932, the American Council on Education presented a revised code which, for the most part, governs the style of academic dress today.

The cap worn almost universally in academic processions is the Oxford cap, better known as the mortarboard. From poetry we learn that the cap of scholarship was square to symbolize a book. A different style, called the Cambridge cap, resembles a large beret.

The use of a dark hood in academic processions is thought to have arisen from the clerical practice of wearing a cap or mantle in religious processions during the 12th and 13th centuries, when universities arose from cathedral schools. Traditionally, gowns are also black. In recent years, however, a number of universities have adopted other hues which signify the school's traditional colors, such as crimson for Harvard, blue for Yale, purple for Northwestern, orange "hash marks" for Princeton, maize with azure blue chevron for the University of Michigan, maroon for the University of Chicago, and cardinal and gold for the University of Southern California. The bachelor's gown is a yoked, closed-front garment with long, pointed sleeves. The master's has long, closed sleeves slit just above the elbow, permitting the forearms to protrude. The doctor's has full, bell-shaped sleeves and is trimmed with velvet panels down the front, and three velvet bars on each sleeve. The color of the panels and sleeves varies to indicate the doctoral field.

The academic hoods, worn around the neck and down the back of the gown, are lined with the official colors of the college or university conferring the degree. The binding or edging of the hood usually represents the subject of the degree.

Mace

The SIUE ceremonial mace was created in 1981 by the late Michael E. Mason, retired curator of The University Museum, who held both a Bachelor of Arts and a Master of Fine Arts from this institution. At that time, the president of SIUE (the position now called chancellor) Earl Lazerson instituted traditional, formal regalia for use on significant ceremonial occasions. In 2005, Chancellor Vaughn Vandegrift restored the tradition of the mace at all commencement and other academic ceremonies. A stand was subsequently constructed and, in recognition of the values of the University, engraved brass plaques were added to the ceremonial mace with the words Citizenship, Excellence, Inclusion, Integrity and Wisdom.

Granting of Degrees

Candidates for degrees listed in this commencement program are those who completed degree requirements or who, at the time of publication, were reasonably certain of completing degree requirements. Inclusion in this publication may not be construed as documentation of completion of degree requirements. Certification of the conferral of a degree is by receipt of a diploma or official transcript noting degree completion.

International Flags

The flags flown at commencement represent the home nations of all SIUE students.

Beautifully situated on 2,660 acres, SIUE offers easy access to professional and cultural opportunities in Metropolitan St. Louis, located just 25 miles from campus.

To Our Guests

Commencement is the premier academic ceremony. This formal conferral of degrees marks the graduates' mastery of SIUE curricula – undergraduate, graduate, doctoral and professional. At its best, it is an occasion of dignity, recognition and celebration. To preserve the decorum of the event, please exercise etiquette appropriate for the occasion and express your excitement in ways that will not prevent others from hearing the speakers and enjoying the ceremony. The University requests that all photographs be taken from your seat or following the ceremony.

For your convenience, we have made arrangements with Grad Images™ for a professional photographer to record the moment graduates receive their diploma covers. Students receive by mail a passport-sized, full-color image approximately one week after the ceremony. There is no obligation to purchase, and students will have the option of ordering several enlargement packages via web site, phone, facsimile or mail. This service enables each student to have a photograph of the ceremony. Family members and friends are requested to remain in their seats and enjoy the ceremony. Professional photographs are available for all students. Grad Trak Graduation Images™ guarantees complete satisfaction with the photographs or a full refund will be given with no questions asked. The transaction is between the student and the photographer; SIUE will not be involved.

In keeping with the occasion, we ask that all guests stand when the processional begins. After the ceremony has been completed, there will be a recessional of the platform party. Please remain in your seats until the platform party has cleared the Commencement area.

 The Commencement program was printed with accurate graduation records as of 4:30 p.m., Monday, December 1, 2014. A final version with full records will be available the week following the ceremonies at siue.edu/commencement.*

Congratulations on your graduation and welcome to the SIUE Alumni Association! As you celebrate this milestone, please consider the fact that you are now among more than 95,000 individuals who can proudly call themselves alumni of Southern Illinois University Edwardsville. Upon your graduation, you automatically become a member of the SIUE Alumni Association, an organization established in 1972 and dedicated to assisting you in building upon the relationships and history you created here as a student. The Association offers a wealth of benefits to help you succeed personally and professionally. Our mission statement reads: The SIUE Alumni Association will be a valued partner of Southern Illinois University Edwardsville through the advancement and promotion of SIUE alumni, the University and its friends. In a few short weeks you will receive your Association Membership card and other materials which are the key to unlocking those benefits mentioned only briefly here. In the meantime, I invite you to visit our website at siue.edu/alumni to learn more about the benefits and opportunities derived from being part of the SIUE Alumni Association, as together we work to Engage, Educate and Empower Cougars for Life.
