Location of research/creative activities:

online, Peck Hall office weekly/biweekly meetings

Brief description of the nature of the research/creative activity?

The student assistants will be involved in gathering data and research related to the study of totalitarian regimes, comparing the Nazi, Soviet and modern Russian occupations of Ukraine. There are three parts to the research: background literature research on fascism/communism and popular resistance, information available through media and scholarly sources. Students will be involved in some, or all three parts. The topic is particularly appropriate for those studying Political Science, History, Communication and Sociology.

Brief description of student responsibilities?

Students will be assigned weekly tasks based on the stage of research, and providing weekly reports of data collection. They will be responsible for independent work and collecting and summarizing (as necessary) existing research, information from the media sources.

URCA Assistant positions are designed to provide students with research or creative activities experience. As such, there should be measurable, appropriate outcome goals. What exactly should your student(s) have learned by the end of this experience?

Students will learn about and become familiar with: (1) how to find and synthesize international level political and social data about invasions and war crimes committed by the invading forces; and (2) how to search and integrate news source information to create context for a case study. Students are expected to develop a more in-depth understanding of (1) the military invasion and occupational tactics, and (2) popular resistance of the people of Ukraine.
